CONCERT CHOIR PERFORMS IN COMIC OPERA, "PATIENCE"

Gilbert and Sullivan's comic opera, "Patience," will be presented in an outdoor setting three nights next week. Opening Wednesday evening, the Concert Choir, under the direction of Loren Filbeck, will present the College's first full-length operetta in the Commons Patio at 7:00 p.m., Wednesday through Friday, May 26-28.

General admission is $1.50, with students and children admitted free. Tickets are still available for all performances.

"Patience," a satire on the then-current craze for aestheticism, was an immense success when it opened at the Opera Comique, April 23, 1881. The story deals with Reginald Bunthorne who has affected an "aesthetic" character in order to win the affections of Patience, a milkmaid, and in so doing wins over all the maidens. A rival, Grosvenor, a true aesthetic, is loved at first sight by every woman he meets and soon Bunthorne is abandoned for Grosvenor.

With this start, the comic story evolves as sung by a chorus of Dragoon Guards, another chorus of rapturous maidens and a cast of characters portrayed by the following students: Morris Ridgeway, Gena Baca, Robin Brady, April Osmer, Charles Talmadge, Michael Tachia, Howard Dexter, Vicki Johnson and Kathy Newcomer. A small orchestral ensemble will accompany the singers, directed by David Hatt, graduate assistant.

MEMORIAL DAY HOLIDAY COMING

Memorial Day, Monday, May 31, will be observed by the College. No classes will be held and all offices will be closed on that day.

The holiday will be the first taken by the College since New Year's Day, 1976.

lectures

 POET TO SPEAK - Poet Diane Wakoski will read selections of her work from 2 to 4 p.m., Tuesday, May 25 in LC-500. Ms. Wakoski has published 19 books of poetry since 1962. Her poetry has certain affinities with surrealism, but it is also strong in narrative and warmth. Of her books the best known are "Inside the Blood Factory," "The George Washington Poems," and "The Motorcycle Betrayal Poems."

Ms. Wakoski has been poet-in-residence at many colleges and universities, including Cal Tech and UC, Irvine. Her appearance at CSCSB is sponsored by the English Department.

LARRY AGRAN TOPIC IS CANCER IN ENVIRONMENT

Cancer-producing substances in the environment will be discussed in a lecture on campus Wednesday evening, May 26. Larry Agran, an attorney and director of the History of Cancer Control Project at UCLA, will speak at 8 p.m. in BI-101. All faculty, staff and students are invited to attend the free lecture.

The cancer project Mr. Agran heads is an investigation into various aspects of national cancer policy since 1946. It is funded by the National Cancer Institute, which estimates that 60 to 80 per cent of cancer incidence is related to environment.

According to Amer El-Ahraf, Chairman, Health Science and Human Ecology, "Scientists believe the new frontier in cancer is the environment." The talk, "Environmental Carcinogens," is co-sponsored by the American Cancer Society and the Department of Health Science and Human Ecology.

SOCIOLOGISTS SPEAK ON WORK ALIENATION

Job satisfaction or alienation and the importance of work and nonwork roles in the lives of both men and women will be discussed in a lecture here Thursday, May 27.

Dr. Elizabeth Nelson and Dr. Edward Nelson, both members of the Cal State U, Fresno sociology faculty, will speak at 3 p.m. in LC-500, on "Work Alienation and Role Salience." The sociologists collaborated on studies based on interviews with middle-class men and women in 1972, exploring the prevalence of work alienation and its consequences in nonwork behavior and attitudes.

Sponsors of the program are the Sociology Department, Sociology Club, Social Work Club and Alpha Kappa Delta.

"SUN-TELEGRAM" HOLDS
WRITEOFF HERE TUESDAY

The Ninth Annual James A. Guthrie Scholarship Writeoff will be conducted on campus Tuesday by the Sun-Telegram. Sixteen students will represent their high schools in the journalism contest. Awards totaling $1,000 will be presented at the luncheon following the program, with a first prize of $600; second prize, $300 and third prize, $100 awarded for scholarships.

Contestants will interview persons selected by the Sun-Telegram and write a story in a specified time.

Representing CSCSB at the luncheon will be Vice Pres. J.K. Thomas and Edward White, Professor of English.
